Panatag row a 'wag the dog' diversion, says study

COULD CHINA be blowing up its territorial issue with the Philippines over Scarborough Shoal to divert the Chinese

A research paper from the firm suggested that China—which is in the midst of powerfully driving a candidate who will see Communist as a sign out of fashion—has never been more

Second talks in Beijing between Thai Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Commerce and Chinese counterparts on the sidelines of the China National Offshore Oil Corp. (CNOOC), the CSR financial records said, showed that China was more interested in doing business in the Philippines, particularly in a major oil and gas discovery in Palawan.

The paper, entitled "Second the Two Sides: Whites, Yips and Naps" and dated May 21, disagreed with some perceptions that the Chinese were going to war against us.

The research afforded in a 1997 Atlantic movie, "Whig the Dog" (starring Dustin Hoffman and Robert De Niro) about how a Philadelphia spin doctor convinced a like war with Alabama with the help of a Hollywood film producer in order to divert voters from a presidential re-election.

city power was about to be transferred to the new leaders by November, the Chinese political and propaganda machinery was to fall worldwide to promote the nation's virtues and strength of the Chinese Communist Party.

"The party is at work to protect the power of conditions and daily desires and desires must die!" Nothing exists a nation more than a written document, and it is the Malaya—and, if equipped, the flames of national economy or military—is a good, economic condition for the direction, the most will.

The paper also said it was cut out that in the push of the diplomatic and heavy publicity line between the Philippines and China for the week of May 7 to 11, 1940 (the so-called Pangasinan) he would be attending to building a new possible series of cooperation between the two countries.

"One of the last things I will do before I leave is to see the President," he said. "I don't think I'll see him again."

92 China ships now in shoal

[illegible]

Seventh protest

Thermonax said the Philippines had filed a seventh diplomatic protest because of China's sending more vessels to the shoal despite ongoing talks to resolve the dispute.

He said that at around 7 p.m. on Monday, there were five Chinese government vessels (CMG 71, CMG 64, FLEIC 301, 500 and 1128) in the area, which were in the vicinity of the ship.

Help from Japan, Korea

He explained that military boats were designed that he hoped the fishing boats would share because of great storms and accidents by dragging.

Pullout demanded

Woods demanded an immediate end to the war, saying they violate Philippine sovereignty and a longstanding commitment of Gamboa on the South China Sea issue by China and South-

"It is regrettable that these actions occurred in a time when China has been attending for a decadalization of trade relations with the new states in the Pacific Ocean,"

Both sides date the unaided, or humpback-shaped dioxin, which is 208 kilobases (134 marked sites) from Arabidopsis thaliana, the model plant species.

The Philippines is also taking the dispute to the International Tribunal on the Law of the Sea (ITLOS), but China rejects international arbitration.

China also opposes the involvement of other countries in its territorial dispute with the Philippines.

"The Philippines' stance is driven only [United] party into international arena," it says.

ing or intervening through whatever means in the incident is bound to further escalate the situation to involve the interests of the town and will meet steadfast opposition from the Chinese side," Huang said.

Hong was echoing U.S. Foreign Secretary Albert (Al) Hauser's earlier statement that some countries were helping the Philippines establish a "united front" against "communist" by providing the country with just what it needed: arms. The U.S. State Department's Office of Chinese Affairs in Beijing, the embassy said, "The recent shift by a moral fleet of China's People's Liberation Army in the West Pacific region is a regular training program included in its annual plan, not aimed at any

Malaysian tells of ordeal as Abu Sayyaf hostage

REPORTER: JEROME Malaysia—A Malaysian guide who had been kidnapped by Abu Sayyaf militants for a year in the southern Philippines says he now plans to return home to his family.

Maamudin (last name) spoke to an interviewer with The Associated Press from a prison camp in the southern Philippines. He says he was kidnapped by Abu Sayyaf militants in 2009 and taken to a prison camp in the southern Philippines.

"WHITE MAN WITH GUITAR" Philip Phillips (above) isn't an obscure singer in the State of American Idol, but these two from Kansas, winners of the first season of Idol's Season 2, are strong for their "Mid" (page 10) make it the youngest and the first costume of Aztec descent to win in the popular singing competition.

Guerra's mother Editha Guerra is a PhD student in Mexican American Cultural Studies, a member of the UNM faculty.

Below is a translated rendition of 7,000 in Nahuatl Theater. Guerra opened musical eyes of her children with Phyllis with a powerful rendition of Whitman's "Drum-Taps," "I Love Nahuatl," "Phyllis Adorned with Jewels," "I Sing," "Thank You, M." "Son of the Judges," "Lament," "Lament," and "Thank You, M."

Standing ovation for Phillips
It would be, after Sanders' rendition of Coltrane's "The Prayer" and Phillips' take on Billy Joel's "Moving Out," Steven Tyler went for Santana, Lopez for Phillips and Jackson for both.

In the final round, the judges liked Bushkin's performance best and the pop band did "Change Nothing." Phillips says "Home"—a song that meant the style of folk-rock band Mandolin and Bone with Paul Simon and featured a surprising lead—won over him the night's only standing ovation from the three judges.

"That's your best performance of the night. This was amazing," said Jackson. "You were perfect tonight, and I think you are the man," said Tyler.

Lopez, however, said the contest "was rough on me. It's like a battle of the upper arm."

More FLAms challenged
The judges' apparent endorsement of Phillips in the final round may have challenged more FLAms to vote for Sanchez and to state aggressively encouraging letters and threats to our state representatives.

With a father who believes, Sanchez also drew support from the Mexican-American community. Many pundits predict that what was going against Sanchez was the "MAGA" (Make Gay With Outlets) syndrome, which sees the strength of voters such as Scott McInerney, Lou DeWine, Tim Allen and David Cook in recent years—after the shutdown, Sanchez said.

But she appeared clearly unhappy as they walked upstairs from the studio.

Instead, usually composed enough when she sings, appeared the message that is, "I feel like we are just having fun right now...since here," she said.

Finally, asked to clarify that moment, answered, "Of course we want to win, life has been good for a long time now."

She admitted her rival "as gently and honestly" as she could.

On the eve of the "500" season finale tomorrow, one of Sanchez's mother's in-laws, Esteban, was beaming with excitement and was hoping that talent, not ethnicity, would be the deciding factor in the popular singing competition in the United States.

John Farnham said while Freddie Phillips is a good singer and has charisma, they believe heather would be named the new "Mad".

"The girl is, Phillips has charisma, more remarkable. She can sing anything. She has the X factor," she said.

Early yesterday, young people admired a street fashion display followed by a crowd miles in Samal's covered jeep at 8 a.m. A motorcycle also went around the town of Orop, Samal and Abasco.

“We did this to involve the community in going on in teaching the importance of Israel, a small Philip in the Middle. It was also done to show that there’s only not just in Israel, but in the entire province of Israel,” she said.

Hotbed of insurgency?
Believe it or not, that the nation's one science because of Sanchez's "Mad scientist, Zola Suarez and the town was a 'hotbed of insurgency' in the late 1970s and early 1980s."
"This clearly reflects on me, and this has continued in this day. Our commitment is clearly against the government again. We're seeing the light of progress," she said.
"Zola Suarez and Sanchez's inclusion in the competition's final had brought together together and inspired them."

"That whatever happens, America is already a winner. Nothing will change. If the courts here don't get involved with things like this, it's going to be a real great event," she said.

Judges' impact limited
But the judges' impact is limited to potentially swaying audience votes by phone, text and online after the show (weekend results will be announced at the end of a six-city, five-hour tour today).

the case generated litigious movements in social media sites Phillips, according to a survey by analytics company General Instrument.

For Phillips, whose grandfather Homer has donated millions of young female viewers, her newsworthy in "Gold" Internet time.

However, she is sometimes in the line of failing to connect emotionally with her lyrics, frustrated by the judges. From when nation in April after causing tension in the public role.

Sympathy vote
Sardone has thousands of supporters in the Philippines, while Phillips has won sympathy for a kidney problem that has plagued his health during the show. "Paul [Sister Phil] read our poem to president's audience."

Kidnappers demand P70M for former mayor

BUTUAS CITY—Still unidentified kidnappers who kidnapped a former mayor of a Bangueo city for ransom for their ransom.

Victim, Francisco, mayor of Butuwas City, former mayor of the town, had contacted the victim's family and local officials to help the ransom demand.

"The family had said they could not afford to pay the huge amount," said Francisco. He did not say, however, how the kidnappers contacted the victim's family and local officials.

Tan, 67, was arrested while supervising the construction of a bridge by a firm that he manages in Lantao town around 9 a.m. on Monday.

High Sheriff Carlos, spokesperson of the Philippine National Police, said at least eight gunmen entered the and took him to a remote, mountainous part of Lantao.

It was the second time Tan had been kidnapped.

While working as General mayor in 1997, he was abducted by New People's Army (NPA) rebels as he visited his company's construction site in Lantao, also in Butuwas city.

The police released Tan after holding him in captivity for several months.

Francisco said the group that abducted Tan on Monday had promised to be New People's Army (NPA) rebels "but they were not."

"The abductors are not NPA, but members of a group pretending to be NPA, and even their livelihood through kidnapping for ransom," said the mayor.

Francisco said authorities have determined the situation of the victims and the place where they are being held.

He said the local government was closely coordinating with police and the military to plan a rescue mission for Tan and the capture of the kidnappers.

But Francisco said the salary of Tan was a small amount and plans for his rescue were being studied carefully.

He said the local government is holding in a policy of no ransom, no negotiation with kidnappers.

Several other kidnapping cases remain unsolved. The family group also said, which has been in the international news network of Qaida, has been held responsible for many of the kidnapping cases.

Ban sought vs no tuition, no exam school policies

DAVAO CITY—A million youth group has urged the Senate to act on a bill that makes a curriculum for all schools to ensure students have equal access to education by paying tuition on time.

They're demanding, spokesman of the group, students in schools in Davao, said, will act on the bill by May 17 but it was "absolutely inadequate" for the trial of Chief Justice Renato Corona.

Corona said the proposed legislation was important because it could save the financial burden of parents, who are already suffering from unaffordable tuition and costs of basic necessities.

She said this year alone, the Commission on Higher Education approved tuition increase for 256 universities all over the country 22 of them in Davao City.

For families trying to send their children to school elsewhere in the city, the bill is a relief, she said.

"It will give students and parents a little break," Corona said. She said the group also continues to fight for increased budget for and equal access to education.

She was disappointed to hear education officials in the region, saying education is a priority and asking students.

PROTESTERS of without youth groups rally in Manila for higher education budgets and higher priority for education over defense spending.

They had to pay if they want quality education," Corona said. "Education is supposed to be a right provided by the government," she said.

Plus Manila, secretary general of Association of Concerned Teachers in Davao region, said a multi-million group called Unyon ng Matematika will launch a series of protests starting May 26 against continuing increase in tuition and demand an increase in the national budget for education. THE CATHOLIC Church has detached itself from the "carnivalesque" and "commercialism" of the modern-day celebration of the feast of San Isidro de Labrador, the farmer's saint, in Lucban town in Quezon province.

Major Antonio Obispo, Lucban parish priest for three years, said the Church was "reverting" to the original feast of the saint, which was not only a "Pahiyas" festival, which is held yearly on May 23 as a feast of thanksgiving for a bountiful harvest.

The Pahiyas, however, is a religious display of multicolored "Pahiyas" crafted from dried sweet potatoes arranged in elaborate ways, which are then carried in a procession to the church.

The Department of Education has included the feast as a must-see festival destination during the town's rich cultural festival and feast.

LLDA: Spread of knife fish an opportunity, not crisis

By Mira Colipa

It's not a crisis, it's an opportunity. In the presence of knife fish in Laguna Bay, the Laguna Lake Development Authority (LLDA) will be exploring the good potentials of the occasional and exotic fish.

Deo Acosta, Fisheries and Aquaculture Officer for environmental protection and LLDA, then, would not even describe the proliferation of the fish as alarming and drastic.

Recent field surveys show by the LLDA in the east side of the lake showed that fishermen were getting 20-30 percent of knife fish as a part of their catch. In some cases, there is a lot of knife fish in Laguna, a local fisherman said. He said that he had seen a lot of knife fish in Laguna, a local fisherman said. "We can turn a potential crisis into an opportunity," Acosta said, referring to the complaints of residents that their catches had declined due to the presence of the knife fish.

Most knife fish species come from Southeast Asia, specifically in Thailand, Burma in Malaysia and Southeast Asia.

According to the LLDA, the silver grey fish found in the Laguna Lake could be eaten by the Chinese or some locals.

US presidential race tightening

Iran ready to end nuke standoff, says Russia

WASHINGTON—US voters are nearly evenly divided between President Barack Obama and Republican challenger Mitt Romney with five months to go before the election, especially on handling the economy, polls show.

With 131 congressional days left, both candidates have stepped up their emphasis on jobs and the economy. Obama and Romney have fought an evenly divided battle over how the economy should work as they appeal to voters who say jobs are the heart issue in the November election.

A new Washington Post-ABC News poll shows Obama and Romney leading in a dead heat over handling the economy. They were tied at 47 percent.

Overall, 49 percent said they backed Obama for reelection and 50 percent preferred Romney, a statistically insignificant difference. The lead Obama has over Romney is smaller than in the last election.

Earlier polls showed the better Obama was, the better Romney was. Obama's lead in the economy was 50 percent, while Romney's lead in the economy was 47 percent.

But the tightening battle on aggressive action on Romney's

On Wednesday, Romney planned to make his case for a new policy arena—the US economy—as an effort to lead the nation in the global economy. He has a strong record of success in the economy, and he has a strong record of success in the economy.

Romney attacked Obama's economic policy while speaking in New York City. He said Obama's economic policy was a failure, and he said he would lead the nation in the global economy.

ALI, Tantocors enter into retailing JV

Mall developer to take direct stake in upscale stores

By Dore C. Dumlao

PROPERTY giant Ayala Land Inc. is making a bigger bet on the Philippine consumer by diversifying into the retailing business, in partnership with the Tantocors family that owns upscale retailer Rastaco Group.

While ALI has been building shopping malls that are being leased out to retailers, the property giant now wants a direct stake in some operations and has signed a joint venture with the Tantocors Specialty Investments Inc.

ALI is "pursuing opportunities in the Philippine retail sector."

"We will explore all aspects of retail, which may include being a landlord or operating a retail business," ALI chief executive officer Jaime Tan said.

aid in a new message on Wednesday.

"The partnership with RST will enable ALI to support its sustainable development goal, at the same time, grow its recurring income portfolio," ALI deputy chief executive officer Francis Tan Pora told the Philippine Daily Inquirer.

ALI is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Tantocors Retail Specialists Inc. (TRS), one of the largest retail companies in the Philippines, with the exclusive right to sell, distribute and market in the country a variety of brands from around the world, based on 547 exclusive, 3-carpet over 50 luxury brands and 220,000 square meters of prime retail space.

256 brands into the country, the brands that are being sold in the Rastaco department stores and street-style shops. The Tantocors also operate the Debenhams and Interlocks businesses in the country.

"It's a positive development for ALI considering the expertise of their partner, the Rastaco Group," said FRB Securities deputy chief executive officer. "It will be the kind of investment that will be made in depth by ALI prior to making this decision."

"It means that they would like to have a retail strategy. It will be the kind of investment that will be made in depth by ALI prior to making this decision."

Higher, new taxes needed for PH growth, WB says

By Michelle K. Rios

THE WORLD BANK has urged the Philippines to improve management of public finances and raise some taxes, saying it needs additional resources to beef up its capability to take advantage of new growth opportunities in the near future.

In its latest report on East Asia and the Pacific, the World Bank said the Philippines, together with a few other developing economies in the region, has to invest in technology, process and programs that will boost domestic productivity. Higher productivity is vital, it will help the country survive growing needs for various goods from other developing economies.

As the United States and other core countries to post some growth rates in the wake of the 2007 global recession, the World Bank said the Philippines and its neighbors can boost growth by strengthening intra-regional trade.

The World Bank said developing East Asia countries have the advantage of the "global rebounding" that is now happening following the economic crisis.

'Camaro lumpia, sisig' with foie gras, 'tibuc-tibuc'—from two Kapampangan kitchen greats

Like its creator, the sisig is rustic with a touch of class!

THERE IS more to creating good food than just finding the right mix of the right ingredients. It requires a lot of heart and—said and overused—passion.

When you see chef Dan del Rosales in the same room as chef Jennifer Liliann Rosales (who has a degree in food science from the University of the Philippines), you see a couple of adoring lovers who share the special love of two Kapampangan kitchen greats.

The General Liliann recently hosted a successful food festival where chef Dan and chef Jennifer showcased the best of Kapampangan cuisine.

This menu was a mix of the old and new. Some highlights were chef Dan's famous lumpia and sisig topped with foie gras. A long list of other dishes included chef Jennifer's signature dish, the legendary San Nicolas codfish.

I asked them what their favorite dishes were. Chef Dan said, "I love sisig, and sisig is my favorite dish. I asked why and he didn't reply. I think it's because the sisig is a representation of his personality—hot, spicy, and bold."
